

Quarantine Blues

Checking in and checking out, all put on hold. Without a doubt.
The book drop's closed and we're all home finding new ways to keep you entertained and feeling un-alone.

3-D Printing of PPE's are just some ways in which libraries are helping. We've got bonus Hoopla, Overdrive, and Ancestry, oh my! What are you doing here?! Go look up your Aunt Vye!

Webinars and training tools. So much to learn it's like we're back in school! Lots of planning now, but please mind your space. So we can eventually open this place.

We miss your kindness and your face and the way you manage to keep your fine balance at $9.98!

If when you see us next please don't you be alarmed if there's a barrier between us it's designed - to keep us all safe you see - catching this virus is as easy as 1, 2, 3.

The life of a public servant is sometimes wearying but when we all get it right there's really not a thing - that can get in the way of, sully, or disturb our, librarying.

I'll let you in on a secret. One I think you know is true. This job is but a dream and we love serving you.

We'll make it amazing together again, I know we'll make it through. And we'll see all your bright shining faces, at this rate, probably sometime in June.
